

Barbara McDowell Foundation
Biographies of New Members of the Board of Directors
August 2019

Kim Bohr
CEO, The Innovare Group
Seattle, WA

Kim Bohr is the CEO of The Innovare Group, Inc., a boutique strategic organizational and leadership development company focused on creating and implementing sustainable growth strategies that boost profitability, performance, and team passion.

With over 20 years of practical business experience as a cross-functional executive, Kim's goal is to make business better from the inside out. Her broad operational experience was gained working with global, corporate, funded, non-profit, and family-owned businesses, spanning many different industries. Kim received her International MBA from the University of Denver, having emphasized international policy and relations to drive cultural transformation. Kim's commitment to solving complex issues extends to humanitarian work and volunteering with organizations making real impact.

Edward Krugman
Volunteer Senior Attorney, National Center for Law and Economic Justice
New York, NY

Edward P. Krugman retired from Cahill Gordon & Reindel LLP at the end of 2016 after 37 years with the Firm (30 as a partner). While at Cahill he litigated in areas ranging from antitrust to contested takeovers to securities fraud to insurance and reinsurance coverage, appearing in state and federal courts throughout the country, at trial and on appeal, and before numerous domestic and international arbitration tribunals.

Since retiring from Cahill, Ed has been a volunteer Senior Attorney at the National Center for Law and Economic Justice, on whose Board he has sat since 2006. He served on the Board of Gay Men's Health Crisis from 2012 to 2018. At NCLEJ, Ed conducts class action and other impact litigation in the areas of public benefits, disability rights, racially discriminatory policing, and legal financial obligations.

Ed received his J.D. in 1978 from Yale Law School, where he was Note Editor of the Yale Law Journal, and he clerked for the late Irving R. Kaufman, then Chief Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. He received a B.S. with Special Honors in Mathematics in 1971 from C.C.N.Y. and a Ph.D in Mathematics from N.Y.U. in 1975.

Lorelie S. Masters
Partner, Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP
Washington, DC

A partner in Hunton Andrews Kurth LLP's Insurance Coverage Group in Washington, D.C., Lorie Masters is a nationally recognized insurance coverage litigator, advising clients on a wide range of insurance coverages, including insurance for environmental, employment, directors and officers, fiduciary, property damage, cyber, and other liabilities and loss. She also handles various types of first-party property insurance claims, including claims under boiler and machinery, business-interruption, contingent business-interruption, extra expense and other related coverages.

Lorie is co-author of Insurance Coverage Litigation, an in-depth legal treatise first published by Aspen Law & Business in 1997 and updated annually. She co-authored a second book, entitled Liability Insurance in International Arbitration: The Bermuda Form, which is recognized as the seminal work on the issue of Bermuda Form arbitration.

Lorie is a member of the American Bar Association's Board of Governors and is a co-founder and former President of the American College of Coverage and Extracontractual Counsel. She has served as Treasurer for the DC Bar Foundation, and on a variety of non-profit boards. In addition to her commercial insurance, litigation and arbitration practice, she maintains an active pro bono practice, focusing on representing victims of human trafficking, in conjunction with her role as member of the Board of the Human Trafficking Legal Center.

Elizabeth B. McCallum

Partner, Baker Hostetler

Elizabeth B. (Beth) McCallum is a partner in the Baker Hostetler law firm, where she practices primarily in the areas of commercial and antitrust litigation. Beth has devoted substantial time to public service work over the course of her career, including representing a class of students attending the Baltimore City public schools in a challenge to the constitutionality of the education providing to those students since 1996; filing numerous amicus briefs in the Supreme Court and Courts of Appeal in cases involving the rights of people with disabilities; and successfully challenging a Tennessee statute imposing restrictions on reproductive rights under the Tennessee constitution.

In 2005 she was awarded the American Bar Association's Pro Bono Publico Award, given each year to five individual lawyers and institutions in the legal profession that have demonstrated outstanding commitment to volunteer legal services for the poor and disadvantaged. She [also] serves on the Boards of the David L. Bazelon Center for Mental Health Law and the Washington Lawyers Center for Civil Rights and Urban Affairs.

Brett Rogers

General Counsel, Brown Advisory

Baltimore, MD

Brett D. Rogers is General Counsel of Brown Advisory, a global investment and strategic advisory firm. In this role, he leads the groups responsible for management of legal matters, regulatory compliance, code of conduct and ethics oversight, internal audit, risk management and corporate secretarial functions. Before joining Brown Advisory in 2009, Brett was director and global head of risk management governance in Deutsche Bank's Asset Management Division and chief compliance officer of the Germany Funds, a NYSE-listed complex of closed-end funds. While at Deutsche he also served as deputy chief compliance officer of the DWS/Scudder family of mutual funds and chief compliance officer of Deutsche Asset Management (Japan) Limited.

Brett serves on the boards of several non-profit organizations, including Baltimore Chesapeake Outward Bound School, an educational organization that delivers active learning through expeditions that inspire character development, self-discovery and service, and the Kasina Foundation, a grant-making organization focused on improving the financial literacy of children.

Brett graduated from Georgetown University with Honors in English, earned his MBA from the University of Maryland R.H. Smith School of Business, and his law degree from the University of Maryland Francis King Carey School of Law. Brett and his wife Vicky live in Baltimore with their two daughters.